OM NAMO NARAYANAYA

Shiva and Vishnu are one

Excerpts from an article by His Holiness Sri Chandrasekharendra Saraswathi Swamigal, the 68th Sankaracharya of Sri Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam – November 19, 1957

It is found stated in the Puranas, (शिवस्य हृदयं विष्णुः) - Sivasya hrdayam Vishnuh and (विष्णोश्च हृदयं शिवः) Vishnoscha-hrdayam Sivah. This brings out the non-distinction or identity between the two. This identity is stressed in the names like Sankaranarayana and Harihara given for the Supreme Being. Rainswara and Rainanatha are the names that are significant for this line of thought. There is an interesting story concerning the meaning of the name Rameswara. It is narrated that once the Devas got perplexed as to what exactly was the meaning of Rameswara. They approached Vishnu and requested him to enlighten them as to the exact significance of the term. Vishnu is reported to have told the Devas that the word is an example of tatpurusha samaasa and should be interpreted as Ramasya Isvarah (रामस्य ईश्वरः) or Rama's Lord, and that Rameswara denoted Shiva. The Devas were not satisfied. They had a suspicion that Vishnu gave this interpretation out of a sense of humility, not wishing to assume for himself a superior position. So they approached Shiva and requested him to clarify the position. Shiva had no hesitation in telling the Devas that the word was an example of Bahuvreehi samaasa and that it should be interpreted as Raamah Isvarah yasya saha Ramevvarah. (रामः ईश्वरः यस्य सः रामेश्वरः) He to Whom Rama is Isvara. Thereby, He signified that Vishnu is Lord for Him also. The Devas were not satisfied with both the interpretations and they appealed to Brahma, whom they believed would be impartial and non-partisan. Brahma is stated to have explained that the word should be interpreted by regarding it as an example of karmadharaya samaasa and that it affirmed the identity of both parts of the name, Rama and Isvara, that is, Raamascha asau Isvarascha Ramesvarah. (रामश्च असौ ईश्वरश्च) That is the story behind the verse :

विष्णुस्तत्पुरुषं ब्रूते बहुव्रीहिः । Vishnus-tatpurusham broote, bdhurvreehim Mahesvarah
उभयोरप्यतृप्तानामात्मभूः कर्मधारयम् ॥ Ubhayorapy-atrptaanaam, Aatmabhoooh karmadhaarayam.

When we read the Puranas, we come across several instances of Shiva vanquishing Vishnu and also several stories telling us how Vishnu vanquished Shiva. There are also stories recording how each went to the rescue of the other at critical times. At one place, Vishnu is worshipped as Hara-saapa-vimochaka, the remover of the Brahmahatti affliction of Shiva. On the other hand, there is a reference to Shiva as Netraarpaneswara - One to whom Vishnu offered His own lotus eye to make up the one thousandth lotus flower during His worship of Shiva. This reference is to be found in the following sloka :

विष्णयस्य सहस्रनाम नियमादम्भोरुहाण्यर्चयन् Vishnur-yasya sahasranaama-niyamaad-ambhoruhaanyarchayan
एकोनोपचितेषु नेत्रकमलं नैजं पदाब्जद्वये । Ekonopachiteshu netrakamalam naijam padaabjadvaye
संपूज्यासुरसंहतिं विदलयं सैलोक्यपालोऽभवत् Sampoojyaasura-samhatim vidalayam strailokyapaalobhavat
तस्मिन् मे हृदयं सुखेन रमतां साम्बे परब्रह्माणि ॥ Tasmin me hrdayam sukhena ramataam saatnbe parabrahmani

So, there is no meaning in taking the view that Shiva and Vishnu are two different Gods and then raising a controversy as to who is the real Paramatma. The truth about the matter is contained in Brahma's verdict that both are One.

Malti Prasad, a pioneer of HCCC

We regret to inform you that Mrs. Malti Prasad, founder and past President of HCCC, passed away on Monday, 29th July 2002 in Sacramento, CA. She was a visionary who founded and nurtured the Temple. She passed away in the same manner as she lived - with grace and dignity, surrounded by love and prayer, and in the embrace of her husband, Dr. Rajendra Prasad, all her children and grandchildren, and many friends. Cremation services were held in Fair Oaks near Sacramento on Thursday, Aug 1, 2002.

A memorial Service was held on Sunday, 4th August 2002 in the Temple Assembly Hall. This was attended by a large number of the Bay Area community, with a number of individuals having an opportunity to eulogize her services and recount her contributions to the community at large. We pray for this great soul. In keeping with her lifelong commitment to community service, friends and family have established the Malti Prasad Memorial Funds at two of her favorite efforts.

If you wish to contribute, kindly send them to one of these organizations.
